Charitychannel LLC, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 277 x 213 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Prospect Research Is a Verb: Fundraising Is the Subject is a prospect research manual that is down-to-earth, easy-to-follow, and even fun to read. Meredith Hancks and Cara Rosson divide the manual into four Parts, each dealing with a specific aspect of project research. They make innovative use of the old-fashioned gift pyramid to provide a surprisingly helpful visual aid for examining the levels of research required for different types of prospects. In chapters 1 through 10, you will learn about the foundations for the profession. This information lays the groundwork for each of the next sections of chapters. Chapters 11 through 16 discuss basic research skills for foundational prospects—generally considered annual fund prospects. When presented with a very preliminary request for research, you will probably need the information in this section. Chapters 17 through 22, Middle of the Road, build upon the first two sections of chapters but can also stand alone. In these chapters, you will learn about research for real estate, gift capacity, and networks. This chapter is the starting point for identifying potential major...

Reviews

It is one of my personal favorite publications. It is actually really fascinating through reading through period of time. It has been printed in an extremely basic way in fact it is just after I finished reading through this ebook by which basically transformed me, change the way in my opinion.

A really great publication with lucid and perfect reasons. I have read through and I am confident that I am going to go back and read it yet again yet again down the road. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
